

From President Good

Helping Members Cope with Change

Change creates, among other things, stress. One thing we are assured of in the coming year is change. However, the exact nature of the change is still unknown.

Furthermore, congressional inaction with budgetary concerns will create further future questions.

Change and concerns for the future create stress. The change in compensation formulas and new EMRs may create longer hours which may add to physician burnout. While healthcare reform may eventually be good for our patients and for the practicing physician, in the short run it is causing health issues for the physician.

As physicians we need to be aware of our environment and the personal risk for burnout. Fatigue and personal factors need to be realistically acknowledged so that they can be countered with behavior to improve health. Just as we counsel our patients.

We can control many of the stress-causing issues. Usually these are not related to complicated patient medical problems, but rather result from paperwork or administrative disagreements. We often feel there is not enough time to exercise or get enough sleep.

The ACOI recognizes the important resource that our members are for their communities. We can provide support

Challenges in Inpatient Care Returns

Registration is open for ACOI's CME program for hospitalists and others: Clinical Challenges in Inpatient Care, which will take place March 13-17 at the Sheraton Lake Buena Vista Resort in Orlando, FL.

The program will provide more than 24 1A CME credits in internal medicine in a relaxing setting amid the family-oriented activities of Orlando.

Designed by Frederick A. Schaller, DO, Joseph J. Namey, DO, and the Hospitalist Task Force, the education program will include sessions on the preoperative risk assessment, auto-immune markers, hypercoagulability, endocarditis, seizures, an ECG Challenge and more. Please note that new AOA guidelines permit members to use early 2013 CME credits to fulfill the requirements of the 2010-2012 CME cycle. A complete agenda is on page 5.

Registration materials are available via the College's website, www.acoi.org or by calling 1-800-327-5183.

Review Course Provides Essential Exam Preparation

Registration is open for the 2013 ACOI Internal Medicine Board Review Course, which will take place, March 13-17 at the Sheraton Lake Buena Vista Resort in Orlando, FL. The course is a comprehensive review of general medicine and each of the subspecialties. It is an excellent way for practicing physicians to update their medical knowledge, as well as an essential part of the preparation process for the certifying and recertifying examinations in internal medicine. Special emphasis is placed on recent advances in various subspecialty areas and on clinical skills management as they pertain to clinical practice and the examinations. Attendance at the review course meets the requirement that osteopathic internal medicine residents must attend one ACOI education program during the course of their training.

Guest rooms are available at the Sheraton Resort for $159 a night, plus taxes. Registration materials are available on www.acoi.org, or by calling 1-800-327-5183.

Funding in part for ACOI Information has been provided by Purdue Pharma, L.P.

American College of Osteopathic Internists

In Service to All Members; All Members in Service

MISSION

The mission of the ACOI is to advance the practice of osteopathic internal medicine. Through excellence in education, advocacy, research and the opportunity for service, the ACOI strives to enhance the professional and personal development of the family of osteopathic internists.

VISION

The ACOI seeks to be the organization that osteopathic internists think of first for education, information, representation and service to the profession.

Letter from the President

to our members in several ways:

- Continuing Medical Education provides time to get away and refresh the brain's thoughts and ideas, and allows social time to interact with our professional colleagues.
- Professional development through the new ACOI leadership course will help physicians to improve leadership skills, which should lead to improved job satisfaction. Part of this course is improving conflict resolution skills.
- Members supporting members, as who else understands the dilemmas that an osteopathic internal medicine physician goes through better than our own colleagues? Our ACOI Board is there for you and we can provide resources to help meet your needs.
- Improving job satisfaction and lifestyle through the Phoenix Physician. The technique of managing in healthcare teams to provide high quality care should be very stimulating and reduce individual physician demands.

We want to support our membership by encouraging employers to provide adequate ancillary support staff. We want to help you feel fulfilled as physicians. We urge opportunities for wellness interactions and logical call hours, to reduce fatigue and potential errors.

We must take care of ourselves so we can continue to provide needed healthcare leadership for the future. I am an actively-practicing primary care internist who wants to help our membership transition through the difficult time ahead. Through the strength of our profession, we can do this together.

If you have needs that the ACOI can assist you with, please contact me at President@ACOI.org.

Fiscal Cliff Law Impacts Medicare Participation Options

The 2013 Annual Participation Enrollment Program allowed eligible physicians, practitioners, and suppliers an opportunity to change their participation status by December 31, 2012. Given the enactment of the "American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012 (H.R. 8), CMS announced that it will extend the 2013 Annual Participation Enrollment Program through February 15. Therefore, participation elections and withdrawals must be post-marked on or before this date. The effective date for any participation status changes elected by providers during the extension remains January 1, 2013.

government RELATIONS

Timothy McNichol, JD

“Fiscal Cliff” and Medicare Cuts Temporarily Averted

The Senate and House approved the “American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012” (H.R. 8) by votes of 89-8 and 257-167, respectively, on January 1. The President signed the Act into law on January 2.

The Act extends the 2012 Medicare physician payment rates through December 31. As a result, the 26.5 percent reduction scheduled for January 1 was averted. H.R. 8 provides for a zero percent update for claims with dates of service on or after January 1 through December 31. According to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS), Medicare claims administration contractors will be posting the Medicare physician fee schedule payment rates on their websites no later than January 23. The 2013 conversion factor is $34.0230.

The non-partisan Congressional Budget Office (CBO) estimates that the one-year freeze will cost approximately $25 billion over ten years. To partially offset this cost, Congress reduced Medicare and Medicaid funding to hospitals and other providers by approximately $10.5 billion. These savings are accomplished through documentation and coding adjustments under Medicare’s inpatient prospective payment system. In addition, changes were made to Medicare’s end-stage renal disease bundled payment system to save approximately $4.9 billion over 10 years. While scored as budget neutral, H.R. 8 also repealed the Community Living Assistance Services and Supports (CLASS) Act, which was created under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA, Pub. Law 111-152). H.R. 8 did not repeal the Medicaid primary care payment increase provided for in the PPACA. It is, however, likely to be part of future cost-cutting discussions.

H.R. 8 delays across-the-board cuts to federal spending, referred to as sequestration, through March 1. Under current law, physicians will be limited to a two percent reduction in reimbursement under Medicare if sequestration is allowed to take effect. It is certain that additional reductions impacting physicians and their patients will be part of the discussions to address the current federal debt ceiling and sequestration. The ACOI will continue to monitor congressional negotiations that would impact access to care.

House Rules Address IPAB

Following the convening of the 113th Congress, the House adopted the rules (H.Res. 5) under which it will operate for the next two years. Included in the rules package is a provision that addresses the Independent Payment Advisory Board (IPAB) established under the PPACA. IPAB is a 15 member panel created to come up with ways to restrict Medicare spending growth if it reaches a certain target. Its recommendations would automatically become law without prescribed congressional intervention.

H.Res. 5 as adopted eliminates PPACA’s requirement that a replacement bill for the IPAB save equal amounts of Medicare money. In addition, it undoes the limitations for floor consideration provided for in the PPACA. To date, no members of the IPAB have been nominated or confirmed.

ACOI Responds to Newtown, Connecticut Tragedy

In response to the tragic events in Newtown, Connecticut and elsewhere, the ACOI has joined with a number of other physician organizations in recognizing the devastating consequences of gun violence and called on President Obama and Congress to act.

The increased firepower of assault weapons, semi-automatic firearms, high-capacity magazines, and high velocity ammunition heightens the risk of multiple gunshot wounds and severe penetrating trauma that results in more critical injuries and death. To this end, the organizations called on Congress to renew and strengthen the assault weapons ban, including banning high-capacity magazines. In addition, the letter states that physicians should be able to have frank discussions with their patients and parents of patients about firearm safety issues and risks to help them safeguard their families from accidents. Finally, the letter supports increased funding for research in violence prevention and gun-related injuries and deaths.

CMS Program Identified and Prevented $115 Million in Fraud

CMS announced that the newly-operational Fraud Prevention System helped stop, prevent, or identify roughly $115 million in fraudulent payment during its first year of operation. According to CMS, the system helped identify 536 leads that have led to 511 ongoing investigations. The system uses predictive modeling and data analytics to review all Medicare fee-for-service claims for indications of fraud.

Washington Tidbits: Different Times, Different Divisive Issues, Common Resolve...

The 113th Congress has been sworn in and party lines have been drawn. The electoral votes have been tallied and President Obama will be sworn in for a second term on January 20. Awaiting Congress and the President are issues over which there are deep divisions and no easy answers. The manner in which these matters are handled will impact generations to come and shape the direction of our Nation.

While at times it appears that Congress is intractably mired in its own inaction and insurmountable conflicts, perhaps there is hope. With a looming Civil War and some of the Nation’s darkest days on the horizon, President Abraham Lincoln delivered his first inauguration speech on March 4, 1861. In concluding his comments he said, “I am loath to close. We are not enemies, but friends. We must not be enemies. Though passion may have strained, it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic chords of memory, stretching from every battlefield, and patriot grave, to every living heart and hearthstone, all over this broad land, will yet swell the course of the Union, when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of our nature.” With the 2012 elections in the books, it is now time to work for the common good of the Nation and its people

Member Milestones

ACOI Immediate Past President, Jack D. Bragg, DO, FACOI, represented the AOA on January 10 at a Hepatitis C Recommendation Provider Implementation Panel hosted at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention headquarters in Atlanta. The panel discussion focused on the implementation of the CDC's new recommendations for a one-time hepatitis C test for all persons born in the U.S. during 1945-1965. Dr. Bragg is a gastroenterologist practicing at the University of Missouri School of Medicine in Columbia.

Robert Jackson, DO, FACOI, was recognized as a Leading Physician of the World by the Premier Specialty Network. Dr. Jackson is a rheumatologist with a practice in Columbia, MO.

Research in Brief

Timothy R. Craig, DO, FACOI was lead author of WAO (World Allergy Organization) Guideline for Management of Hereditary Angioedema, which appeared in the December, 2012 issue of World Allergy Journal (Volume 5; Issue 12). Dr. Craig is an allergist on the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania in Hershey. He is a former member of the American Osteopathic Board of Internal Medicine.

This is good news for generous Americans. Retirement plan assets typically are subject to a heavy tax burden. Please act quickly if you want to make a rollover gift to ACOI. The “fiscal cliff” has given us a win-win situation: a special tax break for individuals and a special recipient break for ACOI. Contact your IRA administrator or a tax professional to get the latest advice on how this opportunity would apply specifically to you. If you do not need a charitable distribution for personal use, please consider making a charitable gift to ACOI.

Congress Provides Tax Break for IRA Distributions

A provision of the “fiscal cliff” legislation that President Obama signed into law (American Tax Relief Act of 2012) on January 2, 2013 may be of interest to College members over the age of 70. It has the potential to benefit both members and the ACOI.

Specifically, those with an individual retirement account (IRA) can make a charitable deduction to ACOI through an IRA charitable distribution. This is important for those who must take mandatory distributions from their IRAs. The advantage to you is that as an individual you may exclude the amount of the distribution from your gross income. This provision is time-limited and distributions must be made before January 31, 2013, for the 2012 tax year, or December 31, 2013 for the current year.

The law has a special provision for making a 2012 tax-free charitable gift to ACOI from your IRA under certain circumstances. The term, “qualified charitable distribution,” is used in the law to describe a charitable rollover. It is money that individuals who are 70 ½ years or older may direct from their IRA accounts as gifts to charitable organizations. The underlying purpose of the law is to alleviate tax burdens for older Americans. The extension allows individuals who received an IRA distribution in December, 2012 to elect to count that distribution (or a portion thereof) as a 2012 charitable rollover if the amount in cash is transferred to a charity by January 31, 2013.
